DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 2, 6, 8-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Francis et al(6,362,893).

3. As per claims 2, 8, Francis et al. discloses an output system(see fig. 2, sheet 2) having a data processing device and an output device for outputting data in a specific format(see col. 3, lines 34-37), which is sent from the data processing device, driver software for controlling the output device being included in the data processing device(see col. 4, lines 54-61), a first data modifier for modifying data processed by the driver software, provided on the data processing device, a second data modifier provided on the output device that performs complementary modification on all data received at the output device regardless of whether the received data has been modified by the first modifier, such that data processed by the driver software is returned to its unmodified form and other data remains modified(see col. 6, lines 5-41).

4. As per claim 6, Francis et al. discloses an output method used in an output system having a data processing device and an output device for outputting data in a specific format(see col. 3, lines 34-37), which is sent from the data processing device, modifying data processed by driver software included in the data processing device, on the data processing device side, performing complementary modification of data received at the output device side(see col. 6, lines 5-31), regardless of whether the data is received via the driver software, such that data processed by the driver software is returned to its unmodified form and other data remains modified(see col. 5, lines 31-41).

5. As per claim 9, Francis discloses storing a program run on a data processing device for sending data to an output device for outputting in a specific format, encrypting output data from an application program run on the data processing device, and outputting the encrypted data to the output device, wherein the encrypting step sets a specific password for output data from the application program(see col. 4, lines 21-49, col. 6, lines 5-41).

6. Claims 1, 3-5, 7, are allowable, for the features of, "if the print requests instructs data to be sent to the output device so as to bypass the printer driver", because prior art fails to disclose if the print requests instructs data to be sent to the output device so as to bypass the printer driver, prior art does not suggest or disclose bypassing the print driver. Prior art discloses that security of a printer can be enhanced by providing the user with a smartcard, token or dongle, that is used in order to print out a document.
